

March 8, 2024

Jishan Jiang, Ph.D.
Professor
College of Grassland Science and Technology
China Agriculture University
Beijing, China, 100193

Dear Dr. Jiang:

I am writing this letter to invite you to visit the University of Washington in Seattle between June 26th to 28th, 2024, during your upcoming trip to the United States attending the American Society of Plant Biologists Annual Plant Biology Meeting taking place in Honolulu, Hawaii. I have enjoyed our discussions in the past few years since you became an independent Principal Investigator at the China Agriculture University. We have exchanged many ideas on your latest progress in studying light-regulated nuclear import of proteins. I believe that your visit to the University of Washington would provide an opportunity for us to discuss in person potential collaboration in the future. My research group would also like to hear about the latest findings you have made in your laboratory.

Sincerely,

Ning Zheng, Ph.D
Professor
Department of Pharmacology

Ning Zheng, Ph.D.
Investigator
Professor

University of Washington - Howard Hughes Medical Institute
Department of Pharmacology, School of Medicine
Box 357280, Seattle, Washington 98195-7280
206.616.3990 • Fax 206.685.3822 • nzheng@u.washington.edu